TERPSICHORE AGAIN AWAKENS.

A Chapter From the History of Omaha Society Life - A Quiet. Sleepy Week-Personal Gossip.

A Great Pleasure Trip.

While in the east enjoying their summer outing, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Swobe, who returned yesterday, took a trip that pleased them very much. They went from the Thousand Islands by boat down the St. Lawrence river to Montreal, spent a few days in that fine old city, then crossed Lake Champlain and Lake George, took in Niagara Falls, and stopped some time at Saratoga. Subsequently another enjoyable journey was taken by boat down the Hudson river, from Al-bany to New York, thence to Coney Island and Long Branch. Mrs. Swobe says, however, that there is no attraction anywhere in all that country sufficiently strong to induce her to want to live there in preference to the

Mrs. Brown's "Coffee."

On Tuesday last occurred one of those pleasant affairs that one long remembers. Mrs. A. Brown, assisted by her sister, Mrs. H. Neuman, gave a delightful "coffee" in honor of Mrs. Gugenheuner, of Chicago, and Mrs. Dreyfoos, of Ottawa. There was everything to delight the eye and please the taste, and the affair was in every way felicitous. There were present Mesdames Gagenheimer, Dreyfoos, Dreyfoos, Furth, Simon, Merritt, Gladstone, Richenberg, Schlauk, Prince, Neuman, Moyer and Meyer. In the evening the following gentlemen joined the guests: Mesars, Richenberg, Dreyfoos, Merritt, Furth, Neuman, Gross and Gross.

Miss Heelan's Party.

Miss Mollie Heelan gave a pleasant party at Hanscom park Tuesday evening in honor of her cousins, Miss Coleman and Miss Keefe, both of Clinton, la., who are now her guests. About eighty young persons were present, and the event proved a most felicitous one. The young ladies thus honoricd were delighted with the park as a place for holding a party, the idea being to them a very unique one. Dancing was the principal pastime, and the large platform was filled to its utmost capacity with dancers until mid-night. Light refreshments were served.

Party at the Arcade.

Mr. James Casey, of the Arcade, gave a pleasant little party Tuesday evening in honor of his nephew and niece, Mr. Casey and Miss Mand Casey, of Alleghaney City Pa., who are at present his guests. Cards, music, dancing and refreshments were the features of the event. Among those present were: Misses Delione, McNorton, O'Rourke, Kimball, O'Hanlon and Casey, The Messrs. Cushing, Kinsler, Heane, of Troy, N. Y., Murphy, Cullen, Dewer, Del-line and James Casey, of Alleghaney City,

Her Sixth Birthday.

Wednesday was the sixth birthday of little Faith Hoel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Hoel, 2616 St. Mary's avenue, and an elegant lawn party was given by Mrs. Hoel for ther little girl, to which about sixty playmates of Faith were invited. The invitations were very pretty and unique, being in gold, silver and green, and were worded as follows: "My mother wants to know if your mother will let you come to my party. Faith Hoel." The time specified was from 8 to 7 p. m., and about fifty of Faith's little friends were on hand at the appointed time and enjoyed a most delightful time. The little nostess received a large number of handsome and costly presents. Smail tables were placed on the lawn and at 5 p. m., most tempting refreshments were spread before the children and the highest possible compliment was paid to the viands by the manher in which the little people speedily despatched them. The Misses Morse, Balch, Egbert and McCandlish assisted Mrs. Hoel in receiving. tions were very pretty and unique, being in

The following were among the guests: Misses Alice Switzler, Bessie Brady, Louise Zahner, Stella Taylor, Roth and Lulu Pier-Zahner, Stella Taylor, Ruth and Luiu Pierson, Elia Cotton, Mary and Lutie Egbert, Beulah Leavitt, Alta Griffin, Luella Bradley, Henrietta Rees, Bertha and Mary Shackleford, Miriam Egleston. Masters Robert and Wilson Switzier, Donald Troup, Ralph Pierson, Fred Taylor, Bennie Cotton, Russell, Jessie and Earle Bevins, Robert Zahner, John Robertson and John Griffith.

A Little Birthday Surprise.

Master Walter Lingafelt celebrated his sixth birthday in a very appropriate way last Monday afternoon. His sisters, Winnie and Pearl, planned a complete surprise on him, and, assisted by their brother Clyde, entertained the following persons at a lawn party in his honor: Misses Josie and Lulu Stafford, Marshie Muffin, Lizzie Gorr, Masters Hugh Smith, John and Albert Pearson and Earl Tate. After enjoying themselves as only children can, in swinging, playing games, etc., they sat down to a bountful spread of cakes, fruits, ice cream, etc., on the lawn. After doing full justice to the sweets they again returned so their play till it was time to depart, when all wished the little host many happy returns of the day.

Master Walter received many beautiful and Silver Wedding. Monday was the twenty-fifth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Moritz Kretchmer, Fourteenth near Willia as street, and they celebrated the event in a royal manner at Metz hall the same evening. Over 200 invited guests were present and a more splendid array of silver present and a more spiental those tokens showered upon the genial old gentleman and his wife. The Bohemian orchestra, which, by the way, is becoming a splendid musical organization, played their prettiest airs and the first half of the night was devoted to dancing intermingled with musical address of welcome, both in the German and Behemian tongues.

Supper was served in the dining hall at 1 a. m. The collation was more than a supper. It was a banquet, and the long line of tables were heavily laden with the most toothsome edibles and all the dainties of the season, while the rarest of flowers added a charm to the scene. After a prolonged discussion of the viands the prolonged discussion of the viands the guests, refreshed, repaired again to the ball

Ball at Goodrich Hall. On next Wednesday evening a grand ball and banquet will be given by the Odd Fellows at Goodrich hall to help lift the debt on that building. Good music has been engaged, and every effort will be made to insure a pleasant evening.

Tennis Tournament. The success of the recent 'tennis tournanent at the the Elms' court, Excelsior Springs, near Kansas City, has called for so many requests for a repetition, that the management have determined to give the public another one, and on a much grander scale. The sporting goods house of J. F. Schmelzer & Son, Kansas City, have interested themselves in the affair. It will be a free-for-all tournament, and held August 28, 29 and 30, open to all comers, and any club can make as many entries as it desires. St. Louis, Kan-sas City, St. Joseph, Omaha. Emporia, Law-rence, and other cities in Missouri and Kan-sas, have promised to send representatives. The prizes offered are as follows: Gentlemen's Doubles, First Prize-Two Sears' pecial prize racquets, with silver in-cription plates. Second Prize-Two English silk tennis belts, silver-plated trimmings. Ladies' Singles, First Prize-One Nonpareil cork-handle prize racquet. Second Prize—One genuine English tennis

C. M. B. A. Pienie. On Wednesday afternoon the members of the Catholic Mutual Benefit association with their wives, children and a number of friends, divorced themselves from the cares of business and professional life and hied to the cool giens of Hanscom park to enjoy a picnic party. A number passed the afternoon pleasantly swinging in hammocks and lazily chatting with their neighbors, but the great center of attraction was the dancing great center of attraction was the dancing platform where gallant men, pretty girls and ponderous matrons smilingly stepped through the mazes of the quadrilles. It was an atternoon's pleasure of itself to see County Attorney Mahoney trip lightly through the intracacies of the Virginia reel and coquettishly dosados with the head lady of the column. The towering form of Hon. C. J. Smyth was also a conspicuous figure in the dance. Mr. W. A. L. Gibbon and Major John B. Furay looked longingly at the dancers, but when looked longingly at the dancers, but when invited to participate shook their heads mournfully and muttered something about "rheumatiz." The dancing was pro-longed until 7 a. m. Among those present were the following: Major John B. Furay and family, Dr. Kin-Major John B. The Misses Murphy, of Atlantic, Ga.; Misses Tinley and Shea, of Council Bluffs; the Misses Maud Paul, Hayden, Kunsler, O'Rork, Maud Casey, Creighton, Cooper, Millett, Agnes Lee, Lizzie Murphy, Stacia Crowley.

Stacia Crowley. Champagne Picnic.

As jolly a company as ever invaded the confines of Pries lake, spent last Sunday at that pretty little resort. Dancing and boatriding consumed the greater portion of the day, and as fine a lunch as ever was spread at a picnic was served on the grass. The liquid refreshment consisted of that daintiest of beverages—champagne—and the lunch was merrily dispatched amid the popping of corks and the ripples of laughter. About thirty ladies were in attendance, among whom were noticed the following: Mr. and Mrs. Lasarus, Mr. and Mrs. Kahn, Mr. and Mrs. Freyhan, Miss Lasarus, Mr. Samuel Klein, Samuel Lasarus, Richard Frey and Ike Buttenstein.

Baxter-Laing.

At 7:45 c'clock last Wednesday evening, August 21, Mr. Charles H. Baxter was married to Miss E. Josie Laing. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. W. Harsha at the residence of the bride's brother, J. C. residence of the bride's brother, J. C. Laing. The groom holds a responsible position with the Wm. Barr Dry Goods company of this city, and the bride is a handsome and accomplished young lady who is highly regarded by all who know her. The affair was very quiet, none but relatives being present, although a large number of unusually fine presents were sent the happy couple. Mr.

and Mrs. Haxter have the sincere good wishes of a host of friends in Omaha. They will be at home after September 3 at 1907 Douglas street.

Back From Their Wedding Trip. Mr. A. D. Brandels and bride returned Wednesday morning from their wedding tour, which was seven weeka' duration. From Detroit they steamed down the lakes and up the St. Lawrence river as far as Quebec. They also went through the Thousand Isles. The next point of interest was Saratoga, where they passed a week. They next sailed down the Hudson, visited New York, Atlantic City and other points. They are now at home to their friends at 724 South

Announcements,

Up to some fifteen years ago there lived in Bucksport, Me., according to local tradition, great-hearted, keen-witted old Vankee named Jedediah Prouty, whose deeds and sayings were the talk of every circle for miles around. He ran an old-fashioned tavern in an old-fashioned way, so peculiar to himself that no one would undertake to continue the establishment after his death, in 1873; hence it passed away with him. Among the old fellow's assistants in that tavern was a youth named Richard Golden, Young Golden was repeatedly charged by the old man with peing a better hotel clerk than "tavern assistant," and was ultimately found guilty on this account and sentenced to quit the tavern for the natural term of his life. Despite this visitation Mr. Golden has ever entertained the kindliest sentiments toward the aged innkeeper, and now seeks to perpetuate the old fellow's good memory through the medium of the new play that is Monday evening at Boyd's opera house, un-Golden to impersonate the title role himself. The company and scenery to appear here are the same that were lately seen at the Tabor Grand opera house, Denver, and the new California theater, San Francisco; also at the new Union Square theater, New York. While the play is familiarly named after Mr. Prouty, it is said to aim at portraying only the old Yankee's best qualities, with the laudable object of demonstrating to the world, through the agency of the stage, that the "down east'er" is not such a fool as he is usually represented to be.

The Chicago Church Choir company will make its farewell appearance at the Eden Musec this week in "Girofle Girofla." This popular opera will be produced with new costumes and scenery and the management promise that it will be the best of the opera burglars entered the house of E. H. Sherwood, at No. 2219 Dodge street, and that of Mr. C. D. Thompson ht 1215 Dodge. The y were discovered in Mr. Sherwood's house before they had secured anything, but in Mr. Thompson's they secured a couple of watches. and a few other articles. Friday night the Burglars returned to Mr. · Sherwood's and succeeded in affecting an entrance. Mr. Sherwood was on the frant porch and the servants were in the rear of the house. The burglars slipped into the house between 8 and 9 o'clock and stole a diamond and other jewelry valued at about $500 and left without being seen. The house of Earnest Riall at Twenty-fifth and Dodge was entered bursday night and silverware valued at 500 was taken. The residents of this neigh-borhood have been the victims of several robberies lately, but have kept the secret quiet in hopes of securing the robbers, but thus far they have been baffled.

Infested With Burglars. Last Monday night a couple of expert

McBride's Cowardly Trick.

Patrolman McBride, "one of the finest," has been the means of making a conductor on the motor line lose his position. A few days ago McBride jumped on a motor train of which Morris Roth, a young man newly anpointed, was conductor. Roth asked him for his fare, stating that a new order required conductors to collect fare from policemen the same as from anyone else. McBride said that the order in question had been revoked, that Dr. Mercer had told him about ten min-utes before that the order had been recalled, and that policemen could ride free. McBride was so positive in his statements that Roth finally concluded that he was correct, and al-lowed him to ride. When Roth turned in his trip report he made a note of the incident and was summarily dismissed for disobeying the rules. Roth went to Mayor Broatch and complained about McBride. The mayor promised to look into the matter and report it to Chief Seavey, but nothing has been

Gets Twenty-five Days.

In July of last year John Fitzpatrick had a watch stolen from his coat which was hang ing in his shop at the corner of Sixteenth and Charles streets. The matter was reported to the police and a careful but unsuccessful search made for the stolen ticker. A few days ago Ed Miller, a painter, was arrested on the charge of wife beating and is now serving a city jail sentence for the offense. Since his arrest he has confessed to the larceny of the watch and Detective Dempsey to-day secured the ticker from a woman to whom Miller had presented it. The matter was brought to the attention of Judge Berka yesterday and a sentence of twenty-five days in jail returned. Miller will have ample time to meditate on his bad

THE BEE.]-For the last five days had it not been for my great faith in the promise I should have advocated the erection of an ark, but to-day old Sol wears his most radiant smile and all nature seems to respond. The beach is literally lined with pleasure-seekers, whole carloads of raw excursionists are being constantly emptied out of open box cars. A large number are those young men who wear lightning jackets and are forever batting tennis ball over a net to a beefy girl in a white jersey. A chimes orchestra plays operas on string instruments, which the sea air has drawn the heart ut of.

But the beach! An! there is grandeur enough to make up for a world of conventially disagreeable things. The immense waves pound in like so many waterfalls, tipping the gayly arrayed bather upside down, and freezing the beauty from a pretty face as quickly as a February gale. Large belted men and women of equal ing roller on the back of the neck, and then come out as GRACELESS AS A KANGAROO, with dignity and poise all gone, while with chattering teeth and sickly smile they tell the innocent-looking bystander that they "enjoy it," and that the "water is warm."

But they don't and the water is like ice. A large but very select party arrived from Philadelphia to-day and are swarming the board walks and hotel verandas. They are said to represent the blue-blood of that delightful locality and have decided to wait until the common herd have finished bathing before taking a dip. They don't seem to have considered the size of the ocean; but have paid some little tribute to the feelings of the people.

The Pittsburg citizens who for the last two weeks have graced this beach with their presence, and helped to swell the exchequer of the hotel treasurer, are amusing specimens. They stalk through the halls and parlors, berating the management for the lack of "natural gas"—indeed, any kind of gas—and say a great many disagreeable things about the weather and temperature, and are very much outraged in their feelings, that their orders for "fire-bricks" do not bring forth some heat, and although their fund of knowledge, like their gas plants, seem inexhaustable, they have thrown very little light upon the subject as to whether the "feature of the to whether the "fountains of the great deep" are broken up. They don't seem to know whether the earth is to be over whelmed is the deluge or not, but they do feel impressed with the notion that things ought to be "lit up." One becomes acquainted readily here, for a lovely young man is bired on purpose to promote social enjoyment, and as he takes a newcomer by the lapel of the coat and tows him up to the dancing girl—who are always anxious to sample a fresh partner—he is rewarded by a beaming smile of approbation from the hopeful mamas—I think they judge a man by his waltzmovement. The exquisite 'master of ceremonies' is more of a success with the ladies, than a United States senator or minister to France would be unless they know how to balance on the corners, You see there are peculiarities about seaside life, A well train intellect is OUTDONE BY SKILLED LIMBS. A soulful poet with a head like Byron, is an do the polka. The hige toned sensative artist may obtain a shock here, but the giddy butterfly who is in the swim, gets smiled at, smiles back, and says to his too particular friend, "As you will, Flike it." The reasons for liking it are many, and are substantial enough for summer weather.

Flirtation has been brought to the highest degree of culture at Atlantic City. A young, mild-eyed, inoffensive young man arrives from Denver at noon. After getting his bag-gage into his room he takes a chair on the front plazza, and gazes toward the vast expanse of sail-dotted sea, with its low-lying shores edged with foam. 'Tis but a short distance to the beach—a board walk runs directly to the bath house on the side, the young man declares that he had not watched the waves for ten minutes when a sharp

GIEL OF EIGHTEEN DETECTED HIM. She walked straight up to where he was, and with one of those "up-to-date" smiles, said, "I beg your pardon, sir, but would you said, "I beg your pardon, sir, but would you mind finding my brother for me! I feel a little timid about going in the surf alone." Of course he didn't know her relatives from Adam, but after walking through a mile or two of hallway, he comes back to where the young girl had sunk into a chair, and drawing up one near her side, expressed his regrets that he had been unable to assist her. It was bathing hour, the hotel verandas were practically deserted, so these two sat chatting away about 'negligent brothers," sea breezes, base ball and the weather till the crowd began coming back. All the girls looked with envious eyes the weather till the crowd began coming back. All the girls looked with envious eyes upon the little fairy and wondered who the stylish new comer could be and now the capture was made, when the young lady suddenly remembered that the ainner hour was approaching. With a graceful bow and a bewildering smile she says: "I must go now. I will see you again, shall I not!" "I trust so," comes with a giance of fistlering trust so," comes with a giance of fistlering trust so," comes with a giance of flattering

At the seaside eating is reduced from a science to a business. It is a severe shock to a delicate dude the first time he cats with a a delicate dude the first time he eats with a girl who has acquired an Atlantic city appe-tite. There is not, however, such a giaring difference between the philanthropist, the poet and the ethereal young lady as one might suppose, when they meet at dinner. The slices of rare roast beef and bread, jars of chowchow and mixed pickles and potatoes are consumed with an air of triumph and tremendous excitement which seems to indicate a common want.

It is the air of course.
The air covers a multitude of everything. It stimulates some young people so that they can't get to bed until the "wee sma' howrs." It instigates here more successful dances than one is accustomed to find in summer weather. A hop or a german here is pos-

Fishing from the piers was never better than it is this year. Fine strings are caught every day, and dogshark, skatefish, rudder-fish and other queer specimens of the finny tribe are frequently pulled out. There was great excitement on the board walk this morning when it was learned that a large school of drumfish was sporting in the vicinity of Applegate's pier. Fishing lines were quickly gotten out, and a number of sportsmen were soon angling for this beauti ful denizen of the sea. Unfortunately the hooks and lines obtainable were not, as a general thing, strong enough to laud the heavier fish, and only five were brought from the water. But the Chalfonte enjoys the distinction of entertaining the hero of the day, Dr. Howard Ketcham, of Philadelwho, with experienced eye, steady hand and nerve, threw in his line and after a play of fifteen or twenty minutes, landed the largest drum-fish that has been caught here for many seasons. When taken to the nearest scales the monster was found to the nearest scales the monster was found to weigh fifty pounds. The genial doctor is the recipient of the similes and admiration of the ladies, the envy of the gentlemen, the adoration of the small boy, while the colored porters swear by him, and the newspaper re-porter blesses him. The ludicrous incidents that happened in the atternoon's play were suffi-cient to excite the risible faculties of the most sedate. In the first inning, Johnson, of the heavy weights, made a three-base hit to right field, and trotted to first, then across the diamond toward the pitcher's box, having lost himself in the diamond. He was then piloted to second before the ball was returned. Most of the fats made better time between bases when they walked than when they ran, and the pitcher for the slims struck out three men in four hours, and the one for the fats struck out six. Bases on balls were too numerous to mention. This is the initial game this season, and will long be remembered by the large number of spectators present. umpire has received nine challenges, choice of weapons and place to fight, also the privilege of waiting for the

The number of people drowned this season is said to be few, but every day a wail comes up from the wave and some frail creature is some times it is a man, but oftener a woman. So far two persons have gone to their future by way of Atlantic City. But this is con-sidered a very safe beach. Only experts can drown here. Mrs. W. S. STRAWN.

The Larder of a "Liner."

We grumble at a hotel or on board ship if our food is not exactly what we desire, but few have any idea of the provisions needed on one of the American liners. The passengers on the Royal Mail steamship Umbria, on one her recent voyages from New York to Liverpool, according to the Pall Mall Gazette, consumed the following: 9,500 pounds of beef, 4,000 pounds of mutton, 900 pounds of lamb, 256 pounds of veal, 150 pounds of pork, 600 pounds of corned tongues, 700 pounds of corned beef, 2,000 pounds of fresh fish, 20 pounds of calves' feet, 18 pounds of calves' heads, 450 fowls, 240 spring chickens, 120 ducks, 50 turkeys, 50 geese, 600 squabs, 300 tins of sardines, 300 ployers, 175 pounds of sausages, 1,200 pounds of hams, 500 pounds of bacon, 10,000 eggs, 2,000 quarts of milk, 700 pounds of butter, 410 pounds of coffee, 87 pounds of tea, 900 pounds of sugar, 100 pounds of rice, 200 pounds of barley, 100 jars of jam and jelly, 50 bottles of pickles, 60 bottles of sauces, 20 barrels of apples, 14 boxes of lemons, 18 boxes of oranges, 6 tons of potatoes, 24 barrels of flour.

The Chikcamanga Battle Ground. It is proposed by the Chickamauga Memorial association that the ground on which the celebrated battle of Chickamauga was fought be bought by the association and converted for all time into a national park. The project will be pushed at the annual reunion of the Army of the Cumberland, when it is held at Chattanooga on September 19. Efforts are being made to secure the attendance at this reunion of members of the confederate army who fought in the battle of Chickamauga.

Hogs Drunk on Cider. A Cadmus, Mich., farmer fed a flock of swine several gallons of cider which was not soft. The hogs went on a glorious drunk for three days, and a few of them passed peacefully away, never realizing what had touched them.

A Venerable Hen. D. J. Charbonneau, of Williamstown, Ky., has a hen that is fourteen years old. She has laid no eggs for four or five years, but is sound and hearty.

THE WEEK IN LABOR CIRCLES

The Unions Busily Engaged Preparing For Labor Day.

ALL UNIONS WILL CELEBRATE

Other News Notes From the Men of Brain and Sinew-Events of the Week.

The Weekly Labor Review. Several of the leading merchants of the city were seen yesterday and asked what they intended to do in the way of allowing their employes an opportunity to indulge in the celebration of September 2. From this inquiry it appears that nothing has yet been done in the matter, but it is the intention of some of the merchants to introduce the sub-ject at the next meeting of Merchants' week committee, and if possible obtain an agreement from all merchants to close a part of that day. The railroad companies have ex-pressed a willingness to do all in their power toward letting men off and will follow the example set by the merchants. Labor day, in this state, is a legal holiday. Omaha shoemakers are warned to stay rom St. Louis as there is a strike on there and the piace is overcrowded with unem-ployed members of the craft. There is no prespect of an early settlement of the trouble. Laboring men are warned to stay sway from Eau Claire, Wis., and to pay no attention to the numerous advertisements encouraging men to go there. The place is overcrowded with idle laborers. Miners and tine laborers are warned away from Cedar Mines, Iowa, Pittsburg, Kansas and Streat-or, Illinois, there being strikes on in each of these places,

George Kleffner will leave the city Monday for Milwaukee, where he will represent the Omaha Letter Carriers' association in the national convention of letter carriers to be held in the Cream city during next week. Kleffner will make a worthy representation. He is not only a leading member of the letter car-riers' association, but is one of the most active delegates in the central labor union. In all matters pertaining to labor his judgment is sound and his opinion is to be respected.

The six bindery girls that walked out of Gibson, Miller & Richardson's establish-Gibson, Miller & Richardson's establishment some time ago are to be paid particular attention on Labor day. This is emmently proper, but, as a laboring man suggested the other day, the girls have been out of work for a number of weeks, and if something were done by the unions towards getting them other situations, it would be of more material benefit to the girls thun any honors that may be beared upon them on Labor that may be heaped upon them on Labor

"I am glad," said a union man yesterday, "that at the meeting of the union presidents Thursday night, the action of the meeting held the previous week in practically snub-bing the workingwomen of the city was rescinded. The committee has now decided rescinced. The committee has now decided to hire carriages for their use on Labor day, and I understand that every attention will be paid them during the celebration. This is as it should be, for if workingmen do not consider the workingwomen how can they expect others to do so!"

A meeting of the Labor day committee is to be held at the old city hall to-morrow night, and the president urges that all members attend, as business of great importance in connection with the observances of Labor day is to be transacted. This committee has been working energetically, and if the day is not properly observed they will not be at fault.

The local Coopers union is one of the most active in Omaha, and at the same time makes but little noise about it. They hold their meetings regularly and take an active interest in all labor matters. They are now busfly at work making arrangements to take part in the merchants' week parade. Whatever they do in this direction will be done well.

Cigarmakers' Union, No. 67, and Carpen ters' and Joners' Union, No. 112, of South Omaha, have signified their intention of joining in the celebration of Labor Day in this city. A number of unions from Coun-cit Bluffs, nearly all of them in fact, will also be present.

Chief Arthur has sent out a circular to members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, asking them to meet him in Minneapolis yesterday, but none of the Omaha engineers went. The men here favor the election of Vroman to succeed Arthur.

Nearly every assembly of the K. of L. in the United States has sent contributions of money to the striking and suffering miners in Illinois, and even the territories were rep-resented in the list of contributions, but Omaha sent nothing.

Postmaster Gallagher has so arranged matters as to allow the mail carriers to take part in the celebration on Labor day. Citizens should not growl if their mail is not so regularly delivered on that day as ordina-

This suggests that all labor organizations take most active measures to assist in making merchants' week a rattling success. Meeting of the Central Labor union at 10 o'clock this morning at Gate City nail. All delegates are requested to be present. A large majority of the employers of the city, if not all, will give their men an opportunity to observe Labor day.

A Famous Church to be Destroyed. The famous old church of St. Edmund the King, in Lombard street, in London—one of Wren's churches—is to be demolished. In the church is buried Shute, who was sent into Italy in 1550 by the earl of Warwick to study architecture, and who published, as the result of his studies, "Architecture's First and Chief Grounds."
